In this academy, you will be required to complete two writing projects for the successful completion of this course.

The first writing assignment will be on how fire science, fire suppression, or fire equipment technology has evolved over the last 20 years. You may choose any fire or EMS related topic that has a historical significance to the fire service.

Your second writing assignment will be a case study. You must write your second paper on a significant fire incident or Line of Duty Death that has occurred in the last 20 years, that revealed a major safety issue. You must identify the safety issue, explain how the situation should have been corrected, and what equipment, policies, and procedures would have corrected the safety issue.

These two papers must have a Title page, a minimum of 5 pages of content, and a Reference Page(s). One inch margins, size 12 Times New Roman font, be grammatically correct, have correct spelling, and be double spaced. A minimum of three references must be utilized, other than your text book.

The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) 6th edition must be referenced for documenting a list of references. This is not MLA style writing.

You must visit the LCC Writing Center at least one time for each of your papers. Write down the name of the writing assistant to show proof of attendance.
